Art, Connection, Impact

ABOUT PHOENIX ART MUSEUM

At Phoenix Art Museum, art is the foundation—the guiding inspiration—of all we do. From our earliest days in 1915, when the seed for our Museum was first planted by the Phoenix Women's Club, to the opening of our landmark building at Central Avenue and McDowell Road in 1959, our mission has always been one of art, connection, and impact. Today, the Museum is the largest visual arts institution in the Southwest, home to more than 21,000 remarkable works spanning American, Latin American, European, Asian, modern and contemporary art, and fashion. Through a landmark partnership with the University of Arizona's Center for Creative Photography, we also showcase dynamic photography exhibitions. Each year, more than 250,000 individuals engage in meaningful exchanges and cultivate a sense of belonging through our dynamic exhibitions, collections, and experiences with art.

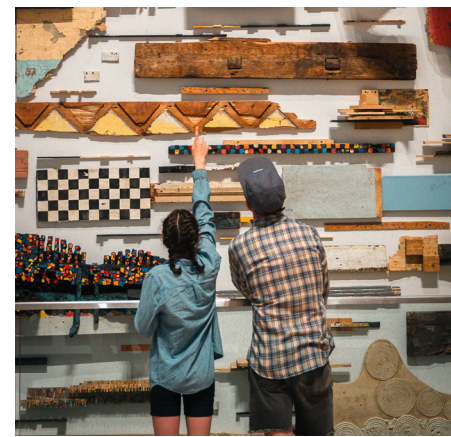

And none of this would be possible without the Museum's Circles of Support.

ABOUT CIRCLES OF SUPPORT

Circles of Support at Phoenix Art Museum is a network of passionate, visionary individuals whose contributions sustain and grow the Museum's mission. The generosity of our Circles donors support everything we do—from exhibitions and curatorial scholarship to educational programs and daily operations. Each year, the Museum provides more than $2 million in free admission to our community, through weekly Pay-What-You-Wish

Wednesdays, monthly First Fridays, and programs such as our free field trips for Title-I schools and Blue Star Museums, which provides free admission for veterans and active-duty military. Circles of Support funds nearly half of all free admission programs benefiting our community, meaning every Circles donation has a direct impact on our ability to fulfill our mission.

Circles donors are not just supporters but ambassadors—art enthusiasts, community leaders, and advocates for cultural enrichment who believe in the power of art to transform lives. In return for your sustaining support as an integral part of the PhxArt community, you'll gain access to unique events and cultivate meaningful relationships with Museum leaders, artists from Arizona and beyond, and fellow art lovers.
